Fingerprinting Requirements for New Hire

A Criminal Justice Fingerprint Inquiry (FP-INQ) is to positively identify the existence or nonexistence of any criminal history based on fingerprints. However, these prints will not be kept in the CHRI database and will not produce a State Identification Number (SID).

An Applicant is a fingerprint submission also used to positively identify the existence or nonexistence of any criminal history based on fingerprints. These submissions are submitted to the Bureau of Identification (BOI) for criminal justice employment background checks. The difference between these two submissions, is the applicant card will be permanently maintained on the CHRI database and a State Identification Number (SID) will be assigned. Remember to use Purpose Code/CJE.

When submitting fingerprints for a new hire, make sure the applicant is being fingerprinted under your agencies ORI and use the Applicant Submission on the Livescan machine or a manual fingerprint card. The Livescan will produce an Acknowledgement Response when the fingerprints successfully went through to the Bureau of Identification. Note the Transaction Control Number (TCN), as the TCN is used to look up the fingerprints and locate additional information.
